This One's For You!!

Dedication

Mr. Tilley, (or should we say "Tilley!")

Who would have known when you took over our cafeteria two years ago, you would become such a special part of our campus community, but you certainly have! We're grateful for your decision to leave Elon and come be a part of the Hornets.

In such a short time you've become almost irreplaceable (maybe not your food, but you have) and Tilley's diner would not be the same without its proprietor. Some days we actually look forward to facing the cafeteria knowing you'll be there with some kind of comment and, of course, your willing ear listening to our complaints. Face it, Tilley, you're a good sport!

Because you've done more than serve us food (the munchies and all the other extras), you've become involved in all that we are. You have also taken an interest in us and for these reasons we want to show you our appreciation. The best way we know how to do this is to dedicate the ECHO to you this year.

Thanks, Tony, for all that you do to make G.C. better, for your energy and enthusiasm, your unusual, vivacious personality and your concern about improving and enhancing our campus. You certainly have done your part!

Sincerely,
The ECHO Staff

Her Tony shows how much he enjoys one of the many outside picnics the helps plan.

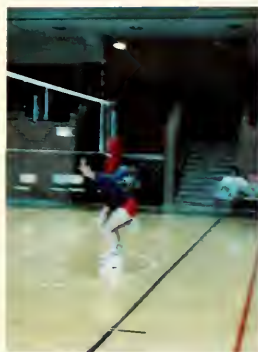

Tony tries to "hog" the camera by hiding the face of Ginger Bodford.

As usual Tony has to set someone straight about the meal served at this picnic.

Tony carves the roast beef on one of those special buffet nights.

Tony also participates in intramurals playing on the faculty/staff teams in football, volleyball, and softball.

Ever Growing, Always Changing:

Kim Taylor, Donna and Carol Gray with their father are relaxing after a hard morning's work.

With the coming of the new year, new and different things have taken place around the college campus. An Honors program has been added to the Curriculum, new faces are seen among the faculty and staff, and the appearance of the grounds has been enhanced by bountiful amounts of foliage. Yet with the new additions, some things at GC will still stay the same: building close friendships; student union dances; intramurals; and munching in Tilley's diner. These everpresent aspects of GC campus life prove that GC spirit never dies out, it just keeps getting better!

The beach is the place for Robert Stanley, Beth Hayes, and John Pritchard.

Enjoying themselves at the "GC Beach Club" were Kathy Hambrick, Susan Matzke, Kim Taylor, and Susan Sherrill.

Enjoying, Relaxing, "G.C.-ing" . . .

Dwayne Holloway and Tim Reynolds agree to pose for a GC photographer.

Greg Harrison is giving it his all in the new GC sport, soccer.

Teresa DeAtley and Rich Pierrie fix themselves a scrumptious sundae!

Gail Murphy, Pres. Barrett, Dean Tatum, and Allyson French discuss GC's upcoming events of the year.

GC students take a break by watching others at one of the Student Union dances.

... Feeling, Jamming, Dining,

Mary Liebert, Stacey Blackburn, and Debbie Ard shake it loose at the American Bandstand Dance.

Joanne Simko digs in to get her share of the first G.C. Sundae.

Dawn Ashby and Robert Baylor enjoy each other's company at the Supper Club.

Pretending, Innovating, Planning . . .

At a Fall intramural football game, the Doobie Sisters take time to make some strategic plans. The team members are: Debbie DeGonge, Mary Rainey, Luheth Ridenhour, Louisa Wood, Kim Melton, Vicki Cowan, Renee LeFavre, Jane Dickerson, Laura Tucker, and Lucille DeTommaso.

The "Go-Go's", Sally Cole, Gloria Torres, Cindy Antle, Beth Ambrose, and Teresa DeAtley, perform live in the Student Center.

Over the summer, the Student Center received a "face-lift", to the delight of everyone on the college campus.

SOCIAL LIFE

Take A Break And Have A Ball!

Entertaining ... Social Life — it's everywhere around us; it's anywhere people are together having a good time. It can be casual and spontaneous, from throwing a frisbee on back campus to a spur-of-the-moment party to a game of pool in the Stu. Social Life can also be planned, like the many activities Wayne Stegall and his new assistant Leslie Lewis arrange for G.C. students during the year. In the fall, students can look forward to roller skating, student dances, the Winter Rose Affair, the Festival of Lessons and Carols, and special trips and events. The Spring semester brings Homecoming and May dances, Casino Night, a MDA fundraiser, and Spring Fling. No matter what the individual's taste may be, there's something for everyone at G.C.!

American Bandstand Dance

We're Goin' Hoppin'!

This year G.C. had it's first actual American Bandstand Dance; rate-a-record, dance contest, and guest group included. Randy Doss took the place of Dick Clark and had Rich Pierrie and Gloria Torres rate the new records. The Go-Go's (Beth Ambrose, Cindy Antle, Sally Cole, Teresa DeAtley, and Gloria Torres) made an appearance and performed to "We Got The Beat" and "Our Lips Are Sealed". The dance contest involved Beth Hayes & John Pritchard, Gloria Torres & David Anderson, Mary Rainey and partner, and Lisa Pendergraft and Keith McCabe. The dance was a success and a great time was had by all!

The Band of Oz has everyone on their feet with their lovely beach music.

On October 1st and 2nd, Greensboro celebrated it's third annual City Stage weekend. People flocked to the downtown area to enjoy the festivities. The celebration included food from different cultures, bands performing all types of music, numerous arts and crafts displays, and a beer garden. When Greensboro celebrates, they go all out and do it right!

Supper Club

Romantic Night on G.C. Campus!

G.C.'s second supper club, on September 7th, was an enormous success. Students and faculty alike signed up to enjoy Tony Tilley's cuisine for an unusually romantic evening. Waiters and waitresses provided by the senior class included Beth Ambrose, Ginger Bodford, Sally Cole, Kelly Erwin, Nina Glenn, and Frank Howard. Vaughn Penn provided entertainment which added to the pleasant atmosphere.

The spooks were out in full force at S.G.C. this year. Beginning with the SGA/Sr. Class haunted house on October 25-30 in Odell Auditorium, to the Halloween dance and costume contest in the Stu, the weekend left everyone bewitched.

Costume contest winners were first place the three legged-person of Darryl Whittington, June Godwin and friend, second place was "Big Mama" Kim Melton and third place was the refreshing taste of Keith McCabe's Miller.

The Halloween Eve festivities included all night horror movies including, Friday the 13th, Creep Show and other hair-raisers.

UAAS Fall Fashion Show

Puttin' On The Ritz!

October twenty-second was the night for a classy fashion affair at Greensboro College. That evening the United Afro-American Society presented it's fall fashion show in the cafeteria. The audience was treated to a complete repertoire of the "latest" — from dance and exercise wear to formal evening attire; from office wear to night gowns and pajamas. Between each of the ten scenes various GC students entertained the audience with songs, monologues and drama. Adding that professional touch and continuity to the event were emcees Jackie Mitchell and Lindsey Morris. The show was a tremendous success and the evening was completed with a dance.

Festival Of Lessons And Carols.

Lights Of Peace Illuminate Campus

Once again, as in the past eighteen years, the Christmas season brings a cherished tradition to Greensboro College and the surrounding community. Luminaries are placed along the walkways of front campus softening even the cold night. The chapel fills in anticipation of the familiar lessons and favorite carols of the birth of Christ. This, of course, is the Festival of Lessons and Carols brought from Cambridge, England by Dr. Hull, this year celebrated on December 11.

The seven lessons were read by Christian Wilson, Roberta Fox, Patricia Sellers, Ron Mikels, Frank Howard, Jean Lojko and Douglas McGaughey. The Greensboro College Chorale and Chamber Singers and occasionally the congregation provided the carol after each lesson. The service was concluded with the passing of the light by the Student Christian Fellowship President Jennifer Mann, and the singing of Silent Night.

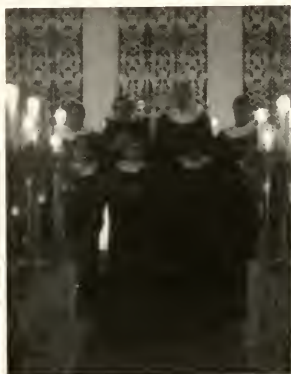

Paul Mitkish, Greg Bennett, Glenn Stephens and Marisa Colby of the freshman class help decorate the chapel before the service.

Luminaries provided by recreation students, light up front campus and Main building.

Decorated for the season, Finch Chapel awaits the celebration.

The Greensboro College Chamber Singers (David Hargraves, Daryl Parks, Aaron Huffstetler, John Creech, Lynn Brady, Carolyn Boyer, Natalie Carter) sing between lessons.

Beginning the service with prayer is President Barrett.

Dr. Hull gives the Christmas Prayer before the light is passed to the congregation.

Dressed in their academic regalia, the faculty marches in for the fall convocation.

At the convocation January 12th, David Hargraves sings "The Turtle Dove", accompanied by Annette Yarher.

As President Barrett, Chaplain Wilson, Dean Tatum and Mr. Caffrey look on, Dr. John Long delivers the address at the Spring Convocation.

Led by Junior Marshalls Sally Cole and Barbara Lewis, the Senior Class marches in for the September 1st convocation.

Words Of Wisdom

One of the many traditions at GC are academic convocations held at the beginning of each semester, held this year on September 1st and January 12th. It is a time for the college community to gather together, to recognize the achievements of students and faculty, and to hear some words of wisdom to carry through the coming semester. The fall convocation was highlighted by the marching in of the Senior Class and the faculty, and the address by President Barrett. The address at the Spring convocation was delivered by Dr. John Long. The singing of the alma mater concluded both events.

Cindy Antle, Ramona Ball Flint, Lynn Brady, Mary Kathryn Buie and other members of the Senior Class arrange themselves in alphabetical order for the processional at the fall convocation.

President Barrett addresses the audience at the convocation September 1st.

Homecoming

A New Queen Is Crowned!

Graduates of past years as well as current students and faculty gathered on campus February 4th for Homecoming, and it was a day filled with activity. The womens' Basketball team won at 2:00 against Warren Wilson College.

The Alumni game followed later on in the afternoon. That evening at 7:30 the mens' basketball team played rival UNCG, winning. During halftime the new Homecoming Queen, Kim Taylor, was crowned by last years queen Lisa Gibson.

The victory dance was held afterward in the Blue Room of the Coliseum with the music of Dance, Ltd.

Elixir Of Love!

The National Opera Company came to Greensboro College March 14th to perform the charming story of the 'Elixir of Love'. The main characters are Nemorino, a shy young man, Belcore, a brash soldier, and Adina, the object of their affections. The problem is that Belcore is extremely that Adina will fall for him, while Nemorino feels he needs a little help. He discovers the 'answer' to his dilemma when he overhears Adina telling a story which includes a love potion. Finding the appropriate quack doctor, he obtains what the doctor claims to be the magic potion, which is actually watered-down wine. When Adina sees Nemorino's new indifference to her, she announces that she will marry Belcore. Desperate, Nemorino agrees to enlist in Belcore's army to secure the funds for another bottle of the potion. A farm girl of the village announces that Nemorino has inherited a large sum of money, causing the girls to flock to him; he attributes this attention to the elixir. Learning the truth from Dr. Dulcamara, Adina buys back Nemorino's enlistment papers and confesses her love for him. Naturally, these events have contributed wonderfully to Dr. Dulcamara's sale of the 'Elixir of Love'.

Nemorino listens as Adina tells the story of Tristan's love potion.

Much to Belcore's surprise and Nemorino's dismay, Adina announces that she will marry Belcore that very afternoon.

Members of the village poke fun at Dr. Dulcamara's magic love potion.

The intensity of the black jack players increases as their winnings increase.

Myron Goode deals a hand of black jack.

On Casino Night, March 16th, the students gathered together to try their luck at Black Jack, Roulette, Craps, and real "rat" race. The students participating in the "gambling" eagerly bet their money in anticipation of increasing their winnings in order to "buy" the items of their fancy at the end of the night. Some of the various things "for sale" were a cooler, sweaters, sweat shirts, albums, sun visors, t-shirts, lawn chairs and more. This special event was a Student Union presentation.

MDA Dance-A-Thon

"All Night Long"

Robert Baylor serves as the DJ of "All Night Long".

"All Night Long", the theme for the 1984 MDA Dance-a-thon, was an evening which proved that "G.C. cares for Jerry's kids". Not only was there dancing, but also prizes, entertainment from G.C.'s own talented students, and delicious munchies were essential parts of the evening. A total of $677.36 was raised for MDA as G.C. proved that "We've got the beat!" The money will be used by MDA for further study of the causes and possible cures of muscular dystrophy, which afflicts so many individuals.

Bloodmobiles

Giving The Gift Of Love!

Twice each year the Greensboro College community comes together to help people everywhere by donating blood. Many stations are set up to check donors temperatures, blood pressure and general health background, to ensure their safety as well as the safety of those who will receive the blood. The events were coordinated by Ruth Gordon of the Red Cross, and sponsored by the Mentors who volunteer their time to help in many capacities. Both bloodmobiles were tremendous successes, with several first-time donors at each. Thank-you to all who participated!

Carol Gray watches as the nurse checks her bag.

Kathy Holbrook waits for her bag in the last step of the process before donating.

While the nurse is busy with Elizabeth Kilpatrick, Ginger Bodford escorts Mike Rhodes to the canteen and Allison Simes helps with Deidre Littlejohn.

Missy Lineherry and Margaret Michaelian relax in the canteen with cokes and crackers after donating.

Gardiner Henderson answers required health questions that ensure the safety of the donors.

Watching as Sharon Nance signs in is Patricia Warnock.

The Nearly-Wed Game

Is This The 'Real Thing'?

The Nearly-Wed Game was a new event this year sponsored by the Senior Class, held on March 22nd in the cafeteria. Many familiar couples regularly seen on campus, along with faculty couples, participated in the game. The couples were divided into four groups: couples dating under one year, couples dating over one year, married student couples and faculty couples. The winners were Steve Roberts and Melissa McCarthy, Jeff Nichols and Debbie Anderson, Larry and Lynne Neal, and Dr. and Mrs. Mott. Hopefully this event will become a GC tradition.

As Barbara Lewis and Mark Southard wait for their turn, Jeff Nichols shows the answer that Debbie Anderson just matched.

Ramona Ball Flint takes a moment to consider her answer as husband Mike smiles to himself.

Gloria Torres, emcee for the evening, applauds for some of the faculty couples.

David Reid and Susan Payne show their excitement over a correct answer.

Clarifying her response is Lolita Davis.

Lynne and Larry Neal share a glance as he explains one of his answers.

As Cindy Trost, Cindy Antle and Sharon Nance watch the presentation, Kellie Farlow points out an outfit she likes.

The host for the evening shows the latest in handbags.

Brownhill's is located in downtown Greensboro on Elm St.

The store manager shows a coordinated plaid outfit.

Brownhill's The Finest Of Fashion!

GC students received a lesson in fashion when they visited the Brownhill's store in downtown Greensboro on the evening of March 27th. Mark McGinn, who manages both the store on Elm St. and the one in Friendly Shopping Center, demonstrated the art of coordinating a wardrobe for a small group of GC women. He stressed the importance of a professional and practical wardrobe for any college student. For many of the students, especially graduating seniors, the seminar was very helpful, offering many new ideas for extending a personal wardrobe. For those who attended, the presentation was enjoyable and informative.

Kelly Erwin and Mary Rainey are intent on the fashions.

Enjoying the show are Cindy Trost, Annette Yarber and Cindy Antle.

Mark McGinn demonstrates that a variety of pieces is the key to a workable wardrobe.

Womanless Beauty Pageant

Whatever Happened To Miss America?

It is an annual tradition at GC to hold a beauty contest, but these 'beauties' are a far cry from Miss America. The contestants are muscular, and have hairy legs and chests. This, of course, is the very aptly named Womanless Beauty Pageant, sponsored by the Senior Class. The pageant was held on April 10 in Odell Auditorium with seven contestants participating. Each contestant was judged on poise, beauty and talent by Jack Poland, Leslie Lewis, and Ophelia Tittie (Daryl Whittington), Miss GC, 1981-1982. All were in suspense until Master of Ceremonies Wayne Stegall announced this year's winner — Hairy Lip Hazel (Jimmy Jefferson).

Karma Chamelion (Jennifer Mann) escorts Boyd George (Mike Rhodes) as they are introduced.

Entertaining the audience with a song is Ophelia Farah Quarter (Jeff Williams).

As Mike Hunt (Caprice Kitchen) eyes the beauty, Hairy Lip Hazel (Jimmy Jefferson) models for the judges.

Displaying 'her' talents is Ella Salvadora (Rich Pierrie).

Hairy Lip Hazel (Jimmy Jefferson) enjoys the victory as Boyd George (Mike Rhodes) and Robert Stanley look on.

Master of Ceremonies Wayne Stegall emcees as Tony Tilley escorts one of the lovely contestants.

Hoping to influence the decision, Ms. T (Joe Ross) shows a little skin as escort Mr. T (Lolita Davis) watches.

Spring Fling

It's All In The Name Of Fun, But . . .

Dateline: April 14, 1984, 1:00 pm, Greensboro College. At this location today it has been reported that a group of persons wearing pink have been observed engaging in such activities as throwing oblong objects that exploded in liquid upon reaching a member of the opposite team, piling into a Rabbit, and racing on small three-wheeled vehicles. Reliable sources say that this is not the first time this spring ritual has taken place.

This 'spring ritual' is, of course, Spring Fling, the last big blow-out before exams. The weekend is filled with all kinds of activities such as a pool party, a dance, an outdoor concert, a picnic, and the Battle of the Sexes, without which Spring Fling would not be complete. Some of the events in the classic 'boys against girls' competition were an obstacle race, mud wrestling, a water fight, and the bug stuff. The ladies team was defending its title, and the decision went down to the wire (or should that be the mud?). In the end, however, it was the mens team that was the victor. Just wait 'til next year!

In the frenzy that accompanies the Battle of the Sexes, the teams have it out in the water fight.

Not everyone at Spring Fling is a participant; many have come to watch the activities.

Members of the victorious team, Bill Chaisson and David Reid, hold the trophy.

David Lyles referees the mud wrestling as two contestants battle it out.

Coached by Jean Lojko, Donna Gregory races off on her tricycle.

... Can The 'Fairer Sex' Triumph Again?

Some of the spectators preferred the shade of the trees.

Gayle Coble and Leslie Lewis assist announcer Myron Goode.

Robert Stanley, assisted by one of his teammates, prepares to douse the other team.

Tricycles do not appear to be James Fawcett's preferred mode of transportation.

As teammate David Reid watches, Tony Hin-son inhales a soda.

The ladies team races to a victory as coach Jean Lojko cheers them on.

Randy Doss counts members of the mens' team as they are stuffed in the Volkswagon.

Spring Dance

The Last Formal Dance Of The Year!

The Spring Dance, held on April 14th, gives GC students one last chance to 'dress to impress' for an evening of music and dance. It is also the time to choose the new May Queen and her court. The court is made up of two members of each class, and this year's included freshmen Amy Wiltse and Gillian Hahn, sophomores Debbie Anderson and Lisa McFadden, juniors Jean Clark and Laura Tucker, and seniors Kelly Erwin and Shari Foy. The 1984 May Queen was Nina Glenn and she was crowned by last year's queen Kathy Crosby.

The queen and her court enjoy a dance with their escorts.

The buffet provides delicious munchies when one decides to take a breather.

Nina Glenn receives her crown from last year's queen Kathy Crosby, as Norman Gunn, Shari Foy and Perry McLeod applaud.

The 1984 May Court: Shari Foy and Perry McLeod, Laura Tucker and escort, Lisa McFadden and Skip Booker, Jean Clark and Donnie Vanderbeck, Debbie Anderson and Jeff Nichols, Amy Wiltse and Bruce Stone, Gillian Hahn and Eddie Miller, Kelly Erwin and Tom Hines, Nina Glenn and Norman Gunn.

Enjoying the good times and friends are Missy Lineberry, Ginger Bodford, Lisa Milton, Steve Perciot, Tracey Butler, Kim Melton, and Lisa Hunt.

Jeff King and Kirk Rothrock are goofing around with the guys.

Watching the action on the dance floor are Donna Gregory and Mary Leibert.

Jane Dickerson has Glenn Shurts right where she wants him.

At O'Riley's

After Hours With 'the Gang'!

On any Thursday, Friday, or Saturday night, any number of Greensboro College students can be found enjoying the music, dancing, and 'beverages' at O'Riley's. Since opening in the early fall, it has rapidly become one of GC's favorite hotspots because of its convinient location and relaxing atmosphere. For letting off steam or socializing with friends, O'Riley's is the place to be!

Bruce Stone and Debbie Anderson relax while watching darts.

Andy Bakas and Elizabeth Kilpatrick get comfortable while having a drink.

Many GC students are enjoying the fun at O'Riley's.

Coffeehouses

Light And Romantic Or Wild And Funny!

Several times during the year, the lights are dimmed in the Stu and candles placed on the tables; the stage is set for an evening of music — a coffeehouse. This relaxing atmosphere lends itself to romantic songs, but that is not always the case. Coffeehouses offer a variety of entertainment to satisfy all musical tastes, and snack bar specials are often featured. Performers this year included Dave Phillips, Doug Hampton, Larry Bloom, John Creech, Marti Sweetman, Susan Sherrill, Natalie Carter, Caroline Boyer, and Kim Steed.

Marti Sweetman, accompanied by Susan Sherrill, relaxes the audience with songs from Barry Manilow and Barbra Streisand.

Singing popular favorites is Natalie Carter accompanied by Ryan Tunstall.

Thrilling the audience with their flamboyant style are Rich Pierrie, Mike Rhodes, Tim Day, Eddie Smith, Tony Hinson, and Doug Hampton.

Caroline Boyer joins Natalie Carter in performing 'Fame'.

Doug Hampton entertains the crowd with his unique style.

One of the 'regulars', Dave Phillips, sings selections from Mike Cross and others.

Stu Dances

Dancing The Night Away . . .

For contests, beverage and munchie specials, prizes, the best music in town, and of course dancing, there's only one place to go — GC's Student Center! For almost any occasion imaginable or even concoctable, Mr. Stegall planned an evening of fun in the Stu. Extra-special events included a free trip to Myrtle Beach won by Cindy Trost at Beach Club Nite, a drawing for Police concert tickets at the Welcome Back Bash, and a 'Thriller' dance contest just before Spring Break won by Glenn Stephens. As always, Ron's 'Happy Hour' specials were enjoyed and the best dancing tunes were played by deejays such as Tony 'OD' Tilley and Robert 'Disco Bob' Baylor so everyone could dance the night away!

Dawna Tate and Kathy Hambrick take a break to talk.

Participating in the Shag Contest at Beach Club Nite are Diana Bowen and Keith Saine.

Trying to capture the title of 'Thriller' dance champion is Paul Mitkish.

Mary Rainey and Louisa Wood dance to a victory in the Shag Contest.

At the first dance of the year, Susan Sherrill and Randy Doss and others enjoy a relaxing beginning to a new semester.

Watching the action are Ryan Tunstall, Angela Ballentine, Barry Moragne, and Dannah Johnson.

... In GC's Student Center!

Cindy Trost (with Angela Duncan), shows her excitement at winning the free trip to Myrtle Beach.

Stacey Blackburn talks with Mr. Stegall and deejay Robert Baylor.

Trying to win the Shag Contest are Mark Venable and June Godwin.

'Thrilling' the crowd with his Michael Jackson impersonation is Glenn Stephens.

Donna Gray, Jo Williamson, Tim Day, Debbie DeGonge, Ginger Bodford, Susan Sherrill, Sylvia Hausler and Morris Hayes do GC's favorite dance.

Many took a break from moving in and registering to have fun at the first dance of the year.

All Barbi Laufersweiler and Kirk Rothrock need is some sand to complete the scene at the Shag Contest.

CLUBS

Something For Everyone

... Participating ...

G.C. has an organization for almost everything from special honors to government to clubs for just clowning around. This past year our clubs have been a source of support and service to the G.C. community and, as always, they have been a place to meet people with similar interests.

Turn the page and discover some of the many ways students participated in clubs during the '83-'84 school year.

Student Government Association

The Voice Of The Students

This year's SGA officers were kept busy the minute they stepped into office. President Teresa DeAtley had the responsibility of running the meetings; Vice President Debbie DeGonge was responsible for running the elections from Homecoming to Class Officers; Treasurer Rich Pierre had to take care of the budgets for the various clubs; and Secretary Louisa Wood had the time-consuming job of taking the minutes of the meetings and distributing them to the representatives. SGA accomplished such things as getting more lighting on campus, moving the Faculty Parking spots so the students could park closer to their own dorm, the Haunted House, the trip to Virginia for the basketball games, and many, many more things.

Seated at the right are some of the SGA Representatives. Top: Gloria Torres — Parliamentarian, Jennifer Morgan, Mark Southard, Barbara Lewis, David Goodman, and Micheal Kluttz. Dorm Council

Deciding The Verdict

The 1983-84 Dorm Council.

The Dorm Council serves as the judicial body of all violations to any dorm. A case may be brought to Dorm council by a student or any college official. It consists of nine members, including three from each dorm. This year's Dorm Council consisted of Norman Gunn, Cindy Antle, Kelly Erwin, Jennifer Morgan, Robert Stanley, and Darryl Whittington. The chairman of Dorm Council is Norman Gunn.

Representing You In State Government

Greensboro College's NCSL works hard during the year to research and write two pieces of legislation to present at the Annual Legislative Session in Raleigh. The purpose of this organization is to pass legislation and to recommend these bills to the North Carolina General Assembly.

Members of this year's NCSL are: Karen Stovall — Delegation Chairperson, Diana Bowen, Cammie Harrison, Sylvia Hausler, Ruth Rifkin, Susan Elliot. Also in NCSL, but not pictured are: Teresa Clinton, Missy Tinney, Sharon Reagin, and Bryan Fisher — Lt. Governor of NCSL.

Ruth Rifkin debated on a Resolution at February Interim Council hosted by Greensboro College.

Taking Care Of Business

Posing for the camera are the officers of AMS.

SNEA stands for the Student National Education Association. It is a branch of the National Education Association and the North Carolina Association of Educators. An extensive benefits program is a bonus in joining, besides participation in planning and holding programs, speakers and workshops during the year. Unfortunately no picture is available.

The 1983-84 AMS members pose for their picture.

AMS is best described as an Education/Business interaction. Our college chapter consists of business, legal administration and accounting majors. Here students have the opportunity to increase their knowledge and experience through a closer contact and association with members of the local business community. Members receive invaluable practical experience in a variety of managerial administrative fields. The 1983-84 AMS Greensboro College Chapter had the largest enrollment in the history of the college.

Mentors

Lending A Helping Hand

Mentors, what an interesting name. These are the people who helped you move in at the beginning of the year; these are the people that got the Freshman used to Campus Life; these are the people who save us at exam time with Care Packages full of goodies; these are the people that help the Red Cross save lives when the Blood Mobile comes to G.C. They are our unsung heroes.

SPORTS

Listen To The Beat Of Defeat

EXCITING, SENSATIONAL ... These are both words that describe athletics at G.C. Whether it's varsity volleyball, basketball or intramurals, sports and enthusiasm go hand-in-hand at G.C.

Visiting Alum's stated that they were proud to see the level of varsity competition growing in leaps and bounds. Student participation in intramurals is at an all time high. Thanks mainly to innovative programs, Mr. Stegall, along with his student union activities, has done more for the general attitude of students than any test could measure. The women's volleyball team amassed the best record ever for an athletic team. The men's basketball team enjoyed packed gyms and enthusiastic crowds during their race for the pennant.

The 1983-84 school year meant many varied athletic activities for both athletes and spectators.

Coch of the Year Launched the Volleyball Team in their Best Season Ever!

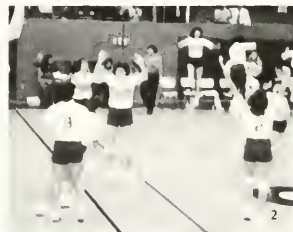

The Hornets 23-12 record made the Girl's Volleyball team the most successful team in the last six years in women's sports at G.C., not to mention the best ever by an athletic team at Greensboro College. This tremendous success is due to many factors. First of all, the team was led by Jean Lojko, named Coach of the Year in the Dixie Conference. Considering that this was only Coach Lojko's second year as head coach, this honor was quite "flattering." Coach Lojko felt that this honor was "very flattering for the team as well . . . it projects the team's accomplishments." Lojko felt that these accomplishments were achieved by the fact that "everybody knew what their job was, that they worked well together, and they had a positive attitude."

Another factor leading to the success of this years team was the individual performances throughout the season. Gigi Lamorte and Wendy Shope were named to the first team of the All-Conference. Lisa Prillaman was named to the second team and Elaine Penn was placed on the Honorable Mention Team. Seven players were nominated for the All-Tournament team, but only two, Lamorte and Shope were selected.

Some of the highlights of this years season included defeating a big rival, UNC-G, beating St. Andrews in the semi-finals, and being ranked first all season in the conference, second overall. In addition, the team was ranked 14th nationally in division III schools.

This years volleyball team proved that success is team work. Between the tremendous performance of the team members and the leadership of an outstanding coach — how could they go wrong?!

2. Wendy Shope, Gigi Lamorte, Lisa Prillaman and the rest of G.C.'s Volleyball team give themselves a well deserved "congratulations" after another spectacular win.
3. Lisa Prillaman cheers as she and the rest of the front line watch as the opponent fails to return a G.C. serve.

2. Volleyball fans support their team during a grueling match.
3. The defense awaits a serve from their opponent.

Poland To The Rescue . . .

Thanks to Jack Poland, after a three year absence, soccer is once again part of the Greensboro College Athletic Department. Poland has been a member of many semi-pro teams in both New Jersey and Greensboro. Poland was an assistant soccer coach at Indiana University, a swimming coach at Westfield High School in New Jersey, and a swimming coach and athletic trainer at Shawnee H.S.

Poland got interested in soccer because there were no football programs at his high school, so he played soccer in the fall. His true love was basketball, but due to injuries, he switched to soccer. He first played collegiate soccer at Shelton College in Cape Canaveral. He also played at Rutgers University in N.J., Messiah College in Ohio, where his undergraduate degree was earned and finally attended Indiana University where his graduate degree was earned.

1. Rising to the aid of his team, Coach Poland is always there with advice.
2. Wearing another one of his many "hats" at G.C., Coach Poland is also an announcer at the G.C. basketball games.
3. With a look of concern, Coach Jack Poland watches his team from the sidelines.

The first season for any program is always tough. This is especially true in the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference because of the presence of defending NCAA Division III National Soccer Champions, UNC-G and the powerful Averett College. This is what Coach Jack Poland and the G.C. soccer team faced coming into the 1983 season.

Since G.C. did not have a soccer program the past three years, Coach Poland had to rely on the talents of his freshmen and experience of his few upperclassmen.

Although the team had a tough and discouraging season, they gained the respect and support from the opposing teams. As a result, the Conference selected freshman Greg Harrison as an Honorable Mention All-Conference player.

With this year's learning experience, both the players and Coach Poland anticipate the 1984 season with great enthusiasm and optimism. Poland looks forward to his many recruits and expanding the schedule to consist of 15 games next year (Which will include two trips, one to Atlanta and one to Virginia Beach).

With experience "under their belts" and support from within, the success of the G.C. Soccer Team is well under way.

Alumni Game: The Old Guys Still Have It!

On February 4th, the Second Annual Alumni Game found between 25-30 former varsity players suiting up for another exciting contest. Ending the series at 1-1, the White team scored in the last 3 seconds to take a 66-64 win. The point margin equaled last years contest at 74-72 affair won by the Green. Brad Eaton returned from Washington, D.C. to take MVP honors with his long range bombing for 16 points in a losing cause. Damon Forney, last years MVP had 14 and David Skeels was the only double digit scorer for the winning team, with 10 points.

Jim Radford claims he will keep coming back until he can shoot a lay up.

The Lady Hornets Do It Again!

The Women's Basketball team had their best season ever in the history of Greensboro College. Coach Jean Lojko led her team to eight victories, which is two more than the previous record of six, set during the 1981-82 season.

Coach Lojko worked with a relatively young team this year, while the oldest players were juniors. Lojko felt that having a young team will benefit their position in the Conference standings in the next season. G.C. tied for 6th place overall in the Dixie Conference, an improvement over last year's 8th place finish. The Hornets had a slow start but pulled together midway through the season. According to Lojko, the team was "more poised and confident" after Christmas break. "It has taken three years to develop a positive attitude here, but now the team has it. This attitude should carry over to next year."

Captain Elaine Penn (junior),

Donna Christy (freshman) and Glenda Teams (sophomore) led the Hornets in this years outstanding season. All three were selected Honorable Mention All Conference. Glenda Teams at one time ranked in the top 10 nationally for rebounds in Division III. Teams also set the school record for rebounds in a season (268) and hit a record 20 consecutive free throws. Donna Christy was voted Freshman of the Week twice during the season.

The season's 8-15 overall record proved to be a stepping stone for the women's team. They broke twenty-five existing team and individual records. This improvement will carry over into next years season, making the 1984-85 season an even more exciting one than this year's — but no one can say that his year was not filled with excitement, accomplishment, and rewards. CONGRATULATIONS

Pretty Faces In The Hornets Nest

The Honeybees

At all the home basketball games there is a special buzzing created by the G.C. Honeybees, the athletic hostesses. The seven girls were present at every home game distributing programs and assisting guests to their seats. Also, the honeybees were responsible for the Hospitality room, which offered refreshments for those parents, alumni, faculty and special guests who attended the games. Dr. Reese was the founder and sponsor of the Honeybees. Cindy Antle served as the "queen" bee for the past two years.

The Honeybees are a special tradition at Greensboro College, clearly indicating that G.C. likes to add that "special" touch to any occasion.

Men's Basketball

The G.C. Locomotive's Moving "Up" The Line

The 1983-84 Men's Basketball team rallied and succeeded in obtaining the second highest victory total for the Hornet basketball program. The 16-11 overall record marks the fourth consecutive year where Ron Mikels has improved his team's record. Of course, Mikels alone could not achieve this feat. He had a lot of help from senior Skip Taylor and junior Marcus Keith, not to mention the rest of the squad.

Taylor lead the team in scoring (17.0), field goal percentage (57.2) and free throw percentage (84.4). With these percentages, Taylor finished fifth in the Dixie Conference in scoring, third in field goal percentage, and first in free throw percentage. He was also named to the All Tournament team in each of the three tournaments the Hornets participated. Due to these outstanding accomplishments, Skip was selected to the second team All Conference squad.

Keith, also, was named to the second team All Conference. He led the team in rebounding (4.8) and was the second leading scorer for the Hornets (12.0). Four other team members were extremely valuable to this seasons' success. Eric Anderson was named Honorable Mention All Conference, Calvin Hunt, Gene Corbett and Shannon Pulliam, all made inestimable contributions to the Hornets victories. Coach Mikels attributes this seasons' success to "great team unity, good performance from the starters, good support from the reserves and a great attitude from the younger players. These factors made it a triumphant season in terms of wins and losses and also in terms of coaching." We will be saying goodbye to four seniors, Skip, Todd Petteway, Eric and Bryant Wiggins. Mikels exclaims that "these shoes will be hard to fill. Losing our four seniors will hurt . . . we need to try and replace them, but that will be difficult."

"Let's Hear It For The Boys"

Cheerleaders

This year Greensboro College had probably the best cheerleading squad thus far. Although it was a very trying year, they stayed on top of things by keeping the spirit high and the fans on their feet. Each cheerleader was very instrumental in creating new cheers/routines and helping the squad perform in a professional manner. Along with the new cheers and pyramids, the G.C. Cheerleaders performed a special routine choreographed to the "Theme from S.W.A.T." at half-time of the Homecoming game. The G.C. Hornet costume reaches a state of disrepair about mid-season, resulting in the "Hornet" becoming inactive. We issue a special thanks to Marisa Colby for her outstanding performance as the "G.C. Hornet."

Kathy Holbrook sponsored the cheerleaders and inspired them through rough times. She also supported and pushed them to excel to be a #1 squad.

1. Missy Tinney leads the crowd in a half time cheer.
2. Looks like these girls might be prospective G.C. cheerleaders some day.
3. Seated: Lisa McFadden, Debbie Anderson, Angela Ballentine, Standing: Tina Day, La-Tonya Powell, Missy Tinney, top: Gwen Robinson.

1. Debbie Anderson takes a breath and watches the game before starting a new cheer.
2. Missy Tinney is surrounded by the star performers of the G.C. Cheerleading camp that the cheerleaders hosted on Saturday mornings.
3. The girls performed one of G.C.'s hottest new cheer.
4. The cheerleaders performed a special routine during half time of the Homecoming game.

Tennis

We Can Handle Any Racquet!

Tennis is a sport for men and women and both G.C. teams have done a really good job during their Spring seasons. They have each shown strength, effort, and togetherness in working as teams.

The lady Hornets are Debbie DeGonge, Lucille DeTommaso, Jane Dickerson, Kim Melton, Laurie Portzline, Leigh Anne Reeves, and Oriska Bridges; all of which have proven to be great sports under the coaching of Pat Cox. Senior Debbie DeGonge is seated number one and has shown superb performance not only this year, but in each of her four years here at G.C.

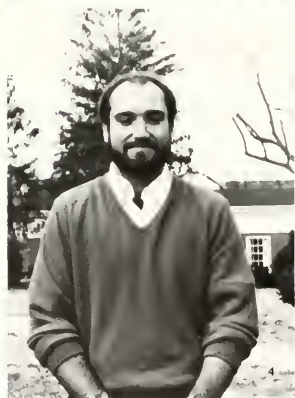

The men Hornets are Steve Grimm (number one), Tom Blanco, Brian Humphreys, John Creech, John Waugh, and Eddie Smith. These guys along with Coach Poland have also shown great sportsmanship.

Congratulations to all of you because you are all winners in our book!!

(No records or pictures of Men's Tennis were available at this time.)

Golf

Keeping On The Right Course!

After a tenth place finish in the NCAA Division III Tournament last year, the G.C. golf team proved to be even more successful this year. Four returning players, with NCAA Tournament experience, are Ricky Duncan, Donnie Vanderbeck, Jeff Nichols, and Andy McMurray. The other players are Bruce Stone, Kenny Smythe, Kirk Rothrock, Marcus Martin, and John Zuirick.

During the Fall season the hornets placed second and third in the Ferum College Invitational Tournament. However, their hard work really paid off during the Spring. They placed third at Luray Caverns in Virginia and first at Pembroke. The biggest reward was placing first in the Dixie Conference Tournament and then on to the nationals. The Dixie Conference Tournament was held in New Bern, NC and the Hornets showed the others who were really on top. Congratulations guys! We are proud of you all!

Basketball Intramurals . . .

Intramurals always play an important role at G.C. Football, Bowling, Putt-Putt, Pool, — you name it, we've got it. This year two of the biggest intramural sports participated in were Volleyball and Basketball. Some of the winning teams were: (1) Co-Rec Volleyball, The Awesomes, Tracy Butler Captain (2) Softball, The Miller Lite Brigade, Skip Taylor Captain and (3) Basketball — B League, Jerry's Kids, Doug Hampton Captain. Thanks to Wayne and Leslie, there is something suitable to everyone's taste.

Faculty & Staff

The People You Can Turn To

... working ... The Echo Staff consider the G.C. faculty and to be a very influential and important part of our campus community and family. Therefore, we take pride in including their pictures in the academic section. As the collage indicates our faculty and staff are always willing to take time to help us as students and as friends ...

Dr. Douglas McGauhey is the new Religion and philosophy professor, who joined the GC faculty after returning from Tuebingen, West Germany where he was completing his dissertation. Besides teaching, Dr. McGauhey enjoys sewing, auto mechanics, cross-country and downhill skiing, cooking (especially ethnic dishes), and reading. Dr. McGauhey claims he is "fascinated with life." He believes "if one is to live a full life one must fill it." That is what he tries to do.

A Priceless Treasure . . .

Mrs. Brock graduated in 1924, Magna Cum Laude, majoring in English and minoring in French. After 15 years of retirement from G.C. for working 44 years, she still takes care of the Brock Museum.

As her sister Sara Lee Brock said in a Greensboro Daily News article on May 31st, 1969; "If she can't answer questions about Greensboro College she can find the answer in seconds."

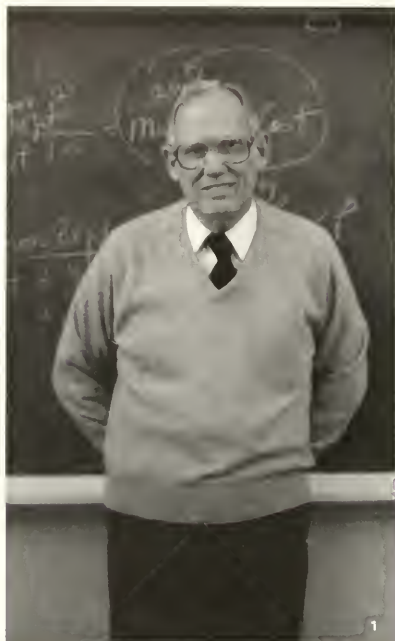

The museum has very interesting and historical features. Four of the most valuable are:

- a. Collection of dolls valued at $7,000.
- b. A Dress Display
- c. Joan of Arc, Tey to find the intriguing story behind this brave woman.
- d. Cabinet's display of valuable documents.

Library Staff

Dr. William R. Mott, Director of Library Services, comes to G.C. from Pulaski, TN where he held the same position at Martin College. While at G.C., this year he has taught the Spring Semester Educational Foundations course and has also served as assistant advisor for the yearbook. When not teaching, he enjoys traveling, studying American Colonial History, the symphony, and, of course, reading. Dr. Mott's favorite saying comes from one of his American idols, Thomas Jefferson. "Knowledge is the only power worth having."

Dr. Long

The Spring Semester Academic Convocation held on January 12, 1984 was memorable for many reasons, one of which was the conferring of the Honorary Doctoral Degree of Humane Letters on Dr. John Long, distinguished professor of English Emeritus. During the Convocation Dr. Long was hooded, received his degree and also gave the morning's address. Included in his address were many mentions of his enjoyed years at Greensboro College.

Ring . . . Phonathon.

"Hi! My name is Miss G.C. Hornet. I'm here in the Gold Dining Room participating in the first G.C. Alumni Phonathon . . ."

For four nights during the month of November students, faculty and staff reached out to touch an alumnus from Guilford County in hopes that they would touch their wallets and give to the Annual Alumni Fund. There were five teams in the phonathon headed by Brian Fisher, Jackie Mitchell, Gloria Torres, Kellie Kistler and Teresa DeAtley. Each night five phones were occupied by team members for three hours. The time was profitable for the entire G.C. community. Callers received many prizes; the campus received much money from generous alumni.

Not Just Another Pretty Face!

Becoming . . . The class section gives everyone a chance to flip through and see who all of their classmates are. Not only do you see their faces, but also where they are from. As far as the Seniors are concerned, you get to see their majors and try to guess where they might be heading after graduation. So now we invite you to take a glance at the many becoming faces in the next few pages.

Who's Who

There are many students who simply strive to pass their classes and partake in very few extra curricular activities. Often while these people are either partying, sleeping, or just being bored, one may wander down to the SGA Office, to the Echo Office, to the Gym, or to the library and they will probably find a small group of pupils hard at work to make G.C. a better place to live.

These are the sort of people who are nominated by their fellow classmates when they are seniors for Who's Who Among College Students. After the nominations Dean Sherrill sends the list to Who's Who and they choose fifteen pupils who they feel deserve recognition the most for their contributions and activities on campus.

The fifteen Greensboro College students chosen for Who's Who 1984 are: Ginger Bodford, Teresa DeAtley, Debbie DeGonge, Ramona Flint, Tony Hinson, Frank Howard, Barbara Laufersweiler, Barbara Lewis, Kelley Mills, Lynne Neal, Rich Pierrie, Mike Rhodes, Kimberly Taylor, Gloria Torres-Diez and Cynthia Trost. Congratulations!

When I think of G.C. and my four years here, I am immediately reminded of Shakespeare's Sonnet 29, for the wealth Shakespeare feels he has because of his friend is similar to the wealth I feel because of my education at Greensboro College. In four years I have obtained academic and social treasures which can never be replaced. I will always think back on the years from 1980-1984 with great pleasure. As graduation approaches I feel excitement about facing the challenges of the "real world", knowing I face it with adequate preparation. This preparation is the result of the influence of excellent professors. I also feel much sadness for the times here can never be returned or replaced. My memories of GC will keep me smiling for years to come.

Teresa DeAtley

As I leave G.C., I leave with much knowledge gained. Not only knowledge from professors and classes but also the knowledge of life and the world in general. I leave also with many wonderful memories. I have grown here in so many ways and have experienced emotions I never knew existed within myself. I am sad to go because of the many feelings I have shared with friends, faculty, and staff, which I know can never be replaced. I'd like to thank all of those people who have been there for me, but I would also like to thank my parents for helping me accomplish one of the biggest goals of my life! I love you all and will always hold you dear.

Love,
Ginger

As I graduate from G.C. I leave behind many friends and memories. The past 4 years have been the best of my life. In these years I've attained many goals, but now it's time to set new ones to be conquered. My parents have taught me to be competitive which has allowed me to accept the challenges G.C. has given me, in academics as well as athletics. I feel I cannot stop at G.C. with my education and so I plan to look into Graduate school for Mathematics. G.C. has given me the opportunity to grow in my thoughts and actions and has given me the confidence I need to pursue my new goals. Thanks G.C. and thanks to my friends who have stuck it out with me — it wouldn't have been the same without you.

Love,
Debbie

Greensboro College will always have a special place in my heart. I feel that God brought me here for a purpose. I did a lot of growing up when I got to college. I gained some knowledge and feel like I received a good education. I met friends here that will stay true for the rest of my life. Of course, meeting my husband in Dr. Hull's advising group is another reason that G.C. is special to me. I hope that the people who read this will make the most of their days at Greensboro College and be as happy as I am.

Ramona Flint

Who's Who Quote By Frank Howard

"I will always be indebted to Greensboro College for constantly encouraging me to develop my talents and abilities to their greatest potential. Professors Tatum, Wilson, McGaughey, and Hull not only taught me Religion and Philosophy, but also shared valuable insights into life, and convinced me that anyone who wants to follow God must never settle into self-satisfaction, but must continually respond to God's call to be formed in the image of Christ."

G.C. has left me with a lot of memories, both good and not so good, but mostly I'll remember the friends I've made. I think G.C.'s most amiable quality is the closeness of the students to the faculty and administration. G.C. has brought me a lot of happiness and I wish only the best for the entire college community.

Tony Hinson

I will never regret coming to G.C. as I have benefited from the atmosphere of a small college. The professors here have not only been great instructors, they have been my mentors, my friends. I will always treasure my experiences here for I have grown in so many ways and faced many challenges. G.C. has made me a better person, and I thank God for answering my prayer back in 1980 in such a special way.

Barbara Lewis

Through my years at G.C. I have come to realize the importance of education in the "real world". I thank my professors for the knowledge they have passed on to me as well as their continued support and assistance. I will remember my years at G.C. always.

Barbara Laufersweiler

During my four years at Greensboro College I have experienced some of the best times of my life, as well as some of the bad. Through interaction with such a variety of people and values, I have been made aware of my own inner strengths, and my abilities. I am grateful for the continuing support from my family, friends, and professors. I hope that I have been able to make significant contributions to Greensboro College.

Kelley Mills

As a day student, I have not been able to participate in many activities and become acquainted with a large portion of the students, but the faculty and students I have had a chance to know have made my four years at Greensboro College a very special part of my life.

Greensboro College has provided me with the opportunity to grow intellectually, professionally and personally. Although there have been times when I felt like giving up, the support offered by my family and the people at GC has prevented me from quitting. I want to thank everyone at GC for their support and assistance, and for adding so much to my life.

Lynne Neal

My experience at G.C. has meant a great deal to me. I have learned a lot and grown a lot here, not to mention all of the wonderful friendships I've made with fellow students, as well as the professors and faculty. I will always remember and treasure these past four years, and I wish the very best to Greensboro College in the future.

Mike Rhodes

As I leave G.C. I have both positive and negative feelings. I look forward to beginning a new career, for which, I am certain my education has adequately prepared me. On the other hand, I will miss being a part of the G.C. community. The "family" atmosphere at G.C. is what distinguishes this college from other institutions. I thank G.C. for giving me both confidence and kindness.

Rich Pierrie

Coming to G.C. has been one of the most important turning points in my life. Every moment has been well worth it.

G.C. has always been an open door which has allowed me to look and reach for a further star. I am and shall always be proud of being a HORNET.

The faculty at G.C. was always willing to go a step further for me. All of you have gained my respect. Some of you have become my treasured friends. I have been able to grow professionally and personally in this caring atmosphere.

The staff has always been willing to help at all time. I know that they care and that makes me feel good.

G.C. you "will always be among my fondest memories" ... Words will never express one-fourth of what I really feel for the family I have found at G.C.

GRACIAS
Gloria Torres

In reflection of my years at Greensboro College, I would have to say that it has given me the opportunity for academic and personal growth unique only to this college. My memories are ones of fondness for the undeniably special relationships I have formed with professors and friends. I feel I am well prepared to meet and challenge the world with confidence, knowledge and maturity. I am indebted to G.C. for this and much more. I wish those who go with me as well as those I leave behind the best of luck in life.

Kimberly L. Taylor

Life in the academic and social world of Greensboro College shall be an always treasured memory in this path of life. As I leave G.C., I do so sadly but with many lessons tucked away inside this human spirit. My deepest thanks to my peers who selected me for this honor. May they "live long and prosper." The greatest thanks of all I must give to my parents, for their love has enabled me to pursue one giant part of life's ambition. God bless Greensboro College, all faculty, staff and students. May her lamp of higher learning never be extinguished.

To all friends and loved ones,

Shalom.

Cap-N-Gown

A Night To Remember!

The History of Cap and Gown began in 1919, for the purpose of "publicity announcing the members of the senior class who had been declared eligible to wear caps and gowns." Today, the seniors select their own "capper" from among those friends they wish to participate with them in this traditional and time-honored ceremony. Greensboro College has held the ceremony of Cap and Gown for 75 years.

At the Cap and Gown ceremony held on May 5, 1984, Barbara Lewis, the Senior Class President gave G.C. its class gift. The Senior Class of 1984 gave new hymnals that were very much needed in the Chapel. Tony Tilley received the ECHO dedication from Ginger Bodford, the editor, and Teresa DeAtley received the Harold H. Hutson Award. It was a very special night for G.C. graduating seniors and their friends.

The "cappers" help with the zipping of the robes.

The seniors march in to the procession.

Gloria Torres shows her excitement of the ceremony.

Graduation

A Time Not To Be Forgotten

The faculty and administration watch as the graduating class files into the auditorium.

A group of seniors stand as their major is declared.

It finally came . . . May 6, 1984 . . . Graduation day for the anxiously-awaiting seniors. Though the weather was rather soggy, it didn't dampen the spirits on this special day. The graduation ceremonies took place inside of Odell where it was a "standing room only" crowd. Senior Class President, Barbara Lewis, spoke of the gradual changes in the life of a student at Greensboro College. She challenged each of her fellow classmates to always strive for the very best and never to forget G.C. and what it meant to each and every person.

Lucill DeTommaso and Debbie DeGonge pause from the serious business to give a happy grin.

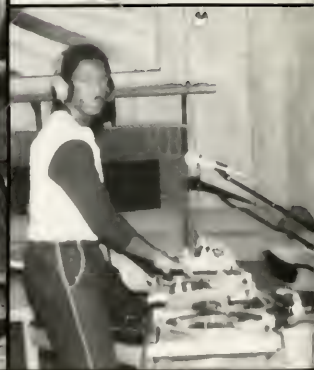

Angela Duncan and Kyle Brown take time out of standing in the refreshment line to pose for the camera.

Junior Marshals Jennifer Fallin and Tonya Bennett flash a smile while serving punch.

Closing Tying It All Together!

The year has come to an end and so too must the pages of the ECHO. The staff hopes you have enjoyed the book and as you can surely see, things at G.C. are "Ever-Growing ... Always Changing!"

THE 1984 ECHO STAFF

Dear Students, Faculty/Staff,

Another year has come to a close and being my senior year, of course I feel it is the best ever. There have been traditional activities continued (Convocations, Bloodmobiles, Homecoming, etc.) and new activities introduced (Nearly Wed Game, Hot Legs Contest, etc). Admissions has been busy recruiting new students, while Dr. Barrett, Dean Tatum, and Dean Sherrill have tried to keep the old students straight and happy.

We have tried to portray all of these important events through this year's edition of the ECHO. For you see, a yearbook serves as a memory book or perhaps even a history book. It is here for all of you to see and be proud of; to let each and every person within the G.C. family be recognized for their participation in the G.C. community. The pictures bring forth the memories, while the words reveal the history of the past year.

I would like to thank everyone on the staff for working so hard to make this book better than the last. I feel this has been accomplished. I would most like to thank Dean Sherrill for all the support he has given me and for the many times he listened to me without getting angry. At times I felt greatly pressured, but I realize now that I couldn't have done it without him. I would also like to thank Susan Sherrill and wish her a lot of luck with next year's book. I love you all and will miss each of you greatly.

Yours truly,

Ginger Ann Bodford
